Organic chemistry tutor mcat reddit

This has been posted before but no one responded and I could use some advice on this too. I know there's no such thing as high or low yield for the MCAT, but trying to memorize my Orgo book doesn't seem like it's helping me much, and studying for this section has been a total drag. I'm testing March 27th, and still need to finish some General Chemistry and Physics, so I'm starting to feel pressed for time. OChem review has been so slow for me that this point I think my time would be better off if I invested it elsewhere. C/P is my weakest section so I shouldn't cut corners, but I don't want to get tunnel vision with OChem and end up brushing off the necessary Physics and General Chemistry review. So if you had to pick and choose what things to focus on for Orgo, which topics would you choose?
